BANDITS' ATROCITIES IN LUANTUNG

Villages Burned And Pillaged.

"INSTIGATED BY MANCHUKUO AGENTS"

Peking, Yesterday.

The bandit situation in the Luantung region appears to be going from bad to worse. Foreign residents of Peking, returning from Peltaiho, describe the frightful scene of burning villages lighting up the sky at night-time.

As a result of the bandit activities, most of the holiday makers have returned from Peltaiho and Chinwangtao in which region, now only a very few foreigners remain.

Despatches from foreign sources in that region state that refugees from Luning are pouring into Changli, telling of how their villages have been burned and pillaged by bandits during last few days.

These foreign despatches give details of Chinese reports, declaring that bandits are being instigated by Manchukuo agents under a bandit named Lao Hoo-tze.

General Ho Ying-ching has appointed a small Commission made up of members of the Luantung Retrocession Commission to negotiate with the Japanese authorities here and in Tientsin, for the demilitarization of the zone.

PERRY AND SATOH IN FINAL

Stoeffen And Tidball Beaten In America.

Los Angeles, Yesterday. Fred Perry, newly crowned American tennis champion, and Jiro Satoh, Japan's leading ace, will meet in the final of the Los Angeles Championship as they did last year.

To-day Perry repeated his win over Lester Stoeffen in the Semi-Finals of the U. S. Championship by scores of 6-0, 6-1, while Satoh beat Tidball, conqueror of Vines in the Pacific Coast Championship, by 6-3, 6-4, 6-2. — Reuter.

PERCY ALLISS WINS 1,000 GUINEAS.

Scottish Golf Champion Beaten 5 & 4.

London, Yesterday. After being 3 up at the ninth, 1 up at the 18th, and 2 up at the 27th, Percy Alliss (Beaconsfield) beat Mark Seymour (Crowood) by 5 and 4 in the 36 holes final for the News of the World Thousand Guineas Golf Tournament to-day at Purley, Surrey.

Alliss is the new holder of the German Open Championship, while Seymour is the Scottish champion. — Reuter.

XIMINES BEATEN IN AUTUMN CUP.

Cesarewitch Favourite Loses To Loose Strife.

London, Yesterday. Ximines (at 8 to 1), favourite for the Cesarewitch Stakes, was beaten by Loose Strife (at 13 to 2) by two lengths in the Autumn Cup to-day. Beau Frere (at 8 to 1) was a neck behind Ximines in a field of thirteen starters. — Reuter.

President Roosevelt

U.S. COTTON PRICE ADVANCE

10 Cents A Pound Increase.

FOR FARMERS WHO REDUCE ACREAGE

Washington, Yesterday. President Roosevelt yesterday approved the plan, for an advance of 10 cents a pound on 1933 cotton for cotton growers conforming to the acreage reduction programme.

He laid down that the advances are only to be made when the cotton is actually in the hands of the producing farmers. — Reuter.

Approval Predicted.

Earlier, it is predicted that the United States administration is planning an advance of 10 cents a pound on the 1933 cotton crop to farmers who are prepared to adhere to the 1934 acreage plan, which prescribes a reduction in cotton land from 40,000,000 acres to 25,000,000 acres. — Reuter.

Officials Study Problem.

Washington, Yesterday. President Roosevelt has approved in principle the proposal for the Government to lend as much as 10 cents a pound on all cotton in the hands of growers.

Meanwhile, officials continue to study the problem. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

U.S. SUGAR EXPERT FOR CANTON.

Provincial Government Appointment.

Canton, Yesterday. At the proposal of Mr. Lin Yun-kai, Chairman of the Kwangtung Provincial Government, the Provincial Government decided at its 24th meeting, yesterday, that Mr. William Howe, an American sugar expert, be appointed adviser in connection with the new sugar refining plant.

His contract is for two years. — Central Press.

STRIBLING WINS ON POINTS.

Narrow Verdict Over Rosenbloom.

Houston, Texas, Yesterday. Making his first appearance in the ring since he was injured while training for his fight against Don McCordindale, Young Stribling, 210 lb. "Pride of Georgia," narrowly outpointed Maxie Rosenbloom, world's light-heavyweight champion, in a ten round non-title bout here to-day.

Stribling, one of the finest heavyweights two years ago, is attempting a comeback. He has a win over Primo Carnera to his credit. — Reuter.

A U.S. FARM STRIKE?

UGLY THREAT FROM IOWA FARMERS

Increasing Clamour For Inflation.

ROOSEVELT MAY INAUGURATE "COMMODITY DOLLARS"

Washington, Yesterday.

The clamour for inflation in the United States, is growing daily particularly among the farmers.

A meeting at Des Moines, Iowa, of the National Farmers' Holiday Association, voted unanimously in favour of a "Farm Strike" for all agricultural products, and asking Labour to co-operate in the strike if the Government do not comply with its demands.

Meanwhile, in view of the almost incredible number (estimated at 17,500,000) of Americans receiving relief, President Roosevelt has ordered his U.S.$75,000,000 scheme to help farmers by feeding and clothing the destitute and unemployed, to start within a month.

The plan supplements the existing Federal, State and Municipal expenditures amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars, and may be supplemented by the Federal distribution of 10,000,000 tons of coal during the winter.

Meanwhile, there are indications that the President hopes to inaugurate "commodity dollars," as envisaged by Professor G. F. Warren, of the "Brain Trust," before Congress meets in January.

This will release about U.S.$2,000,000,000 of frozen assets, in closed or restricted banks, for the benefit of depositors. — Reuter.

BANKERS OPPOSE INFLATION.

Hope It Will Not Be Necessary.

Houston, Texas, Yesterday. Mr. Francis Law, President of the American Bankers' Association, said to-day that he believed the majority of the nation's bankers hope that there will be no further inflation.

They also hope it will not be necessary. — U. P., per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

ADMIRAL DREYER GOES TO JAPAN.

Two British Warships To Pay Visit.

Wel-hai-wel, Yesterday. H.E. the Commander-in-Chief, China Station, Admiral Sir Frederic Dreyer, K.C.B., C.B. (Civil), C.B. (Military), C.B.E., left here for Japan this morning on board H.M.S. Kent.

Sir Frederic is accompanied by Lady Dreyer, on board H.M.S. Falmouth. — Reuter.

FOLKESTONE DUE TO-MORROW H.M. Sloop Folkestone is expected to arrive in the Colony to-morrow morning, from Shanghai.

"RECOVERY PROGRAMME WILL SUCCEED"

Encouraging Reports By American Economists

New York, Yesterday. The report issued here yesterday by Mr. Roger Babson, the well-known American statistician and economist, predicts that the United States Government Recovery programme will be fundamentally successful, but predicts that some changes will be made from time to time.

The report also predicts higher commodity prices for 1934.

Dunn's and Bradstreet's report states that there is strong increase in buying and consumption of goods. — United Press, per S. C. Gold Bar Co.

WAR THREAT IN NORTH CHINA

Japanese Ultimatum To Peking.

FANG CHEN-WU MUST QUIT DEMILITARISED ZONE

Peking, Yesterday. A threat of renewed hostilities in North China is held out in a Japanese ultimatum to General Fang Chen-wu, the ex-subordinate of Feng Yu-shiang, demanding the Southward evacuation of his troops from the zone demilitarized by the Tangku Armistice, by the night of September 25, otherwise action would be taken.

It is noteworthy that Fang Chen-wu is regarded by the Chinese Government as a virtual rebel.

The ultimatum is contained in leaflets which a Japanese military aeroplane, complete with machine-guns, scattered during a half-hour visit to Peking this morning.

The ultimatum caused consternation among the Chinese population. — Reuter.

RUSSIAN PLANES OVER MANCHURIA.

Frequent Incursions Increase Anxiety.

Tientsin, Yesterday. According to a Harbin report, the anxiety over the strained relations between Soviet Russia and Manchukuo is heightened by information from border districts that Russian planes are very active.

On frequent occasions Russian planes have been seen over Heilho. They appeared to have crossed the Manchurian border from Blagovestchensk.

On the north-western border of Manchuria, Russian planes are also reported to have made frequent flights over Manchukuo obviously for the purpose of scouting. — Central News Agency.

BODY - LINE BOWLING RULE TO BE ADOPTED

Momentous Australian Cricket Decision.

N. S. W. DELEGATES OPPOSE MOTION

Sydney, Yesterday.

"Body-line" bowling is to be eliminated from Australian Cricket. To-day the Inter-State Cricket Conference adopted the "body-line" rule suggested by the Australian Cricket Board of Control on April 28 of this year.

It is understood that the New South Wales delegates voted against the proposal.

The rule reads: "In the opinion of the umpire at the bowler's end, and has been bowled at the batsman with intent to intimidate or injure him, shall be considered unfair and a no ball shall be called, and the bowler shall be liable to be reported if the offence is repeated by the same bowler in the same innings he will be instructed by the umpire to cease bowling, and the over shall be regarded as completed. In this case the bowler will not again be permitted to bowl during the innings. The meeting of the Board of Control has been adjourned until February 2, 1934 when the Australian team for the English tour will be selected. — Reuter.

HOPES OF RUBBER RESTRICTION.

Native Production In Dutch East Indies.

London, Yesterday. The Financial Times Amsterdam correspondent reports an official announcement that the Government Commissioners of the native rubber districts in the Dutch East Indies will shortly be summoned to Batavia to discuss restriction.

This is considered to indicate that negotiations in regard to the restriction of native rubber have reached a very advance stage.

Negotiations in Europe are said to be progressing slowly, the main difficulty being the allotment of quotas. — Reuter.

$300,000 DAMAGE IN QUEBEC

Renewed Outbreak Of Incendiarism?

Quebec, Yesterday.

Damage amounting to $300,000 was done by a fire which destroyed the Roman Catholic Cathedral at Valley Field and a neighbouring convent.

Five hundred nuns rushed to safety in their night attire.

The fire was still raging late last night, and blazing embers were drifting over the town, endangering other buildings.

Earlier this year, there was a series of terrible fires in the country believed to have been caused by incendiaries. Many Catholic churches in Quebec were visited by these fire-raiders, and police and volunteer guards patrolled the environs of all Churches in the neighbourhood for some weeks. — Reuter.

REICHSTAG FIRE TRIAL SENSATIONS

Dutch Youth Shows Signs Of Insanity.

LIFELESS ATTITUDE IN LEIPZIG COURT

Leipzig, Yesterday.

An atmosphere of tense expectancy prevailed in the Court here, this morning, when Geordi Dimitroff, the 41-year-old author and Bulgarian Communist leader was called to give evidence in the Reichstag fire trial, which opened on Thursday last.

Van der Lubbe, the 24-year-old Dutch youth, who is charged with treason in connection with the burning of the building, is also causing a new sensation by refusing to eat. The vagaries of the accused youth since the opening of the trial have created grave doubts as to his mental state.

Herr Stomper, the well-known Dutch advocate, who is legal adviser to Van der Lubbe, at the opening of today's proceedings, obtained permission for a doctor to sit beside his client in Court.

Van der Lubbe, meanwhile, maintains his habitual lifeless attitude, listening to the evidence with bent head and drooping shoulders. Occasionally an enigmatic smile flits across his face.

Dimitroff, the Bulgarian, admitted this morning that he had read in the foreign papers that he had been sentenced to death by a Bulgarian Court during his absence from that country.

Chapter VI. — PURSUIT.

(By GERALD BURRARD.)

At first the man seemed too frightened to speak at all coherently, but Geoffrey spoke to him reassuringly in his own tongue, and by degrees allayed his suspicions. He was a typical nomadic Tibetan shepherd, and seemed to have but little stomach for fighting. He talked almost happily for a few minutes about his sheep and yaks, and appeared to be bothered by domestic troubles, in common with most Tibetans of the lower classes, which was not altogether surprising since he shared one wife with his three brothers! As soon as he had gained a measure of confidence, Geoffrey suddenly asked, "And now tell me where is the 'Tiger'?"

The man's whole face changed. Terror was written in every line. "I must not say. If I do he will torture me. He always does. I have seen it."

"He made you join his Tibetans?"

"Yes. I had no wish to come, but he forced me together with my friends whom you have killed with your devils."

"How many were you?"

"Only seven. I am the only one left alive. All the others were Tibetans."

"How many Tibetans were there?"

"Ten."

"H'm. We have accounted for six. That means there are but four left. Where were you hiding before you attacked last night?"

"In a cave over there." He pointed across the ridge on the right of the valley.

"Will the other Tibetans have gone back there?"

"I do not know. Perhaps. He told us not to return without you as a prisoner."

"He?" Then Geoffrey drew a bow at a venture. "You mean the English chief?"

"Who else? He has just come back and he gave us our orders himself."

Geoffrey could hardly suppress his excitement. The mysterious man in England had come out and had obviously assumed control. This party had been sent to capture him. The probability was that the "Tiger's" lair could not be so very far distant. He determined to make another long shot.

"Then he is now at Kang Rimpoche?" (the Holy Mountain).

"Yes. He awaits our return."

Now, in Western Tibet there is only one mountain known unqualifiedly as Kang Rimpoche, and that is Kailas. So Geoffrey's supposition was right! He was quivering with anxiety, but managed to hide his eagerness.

"Then the four Tibetans who escaped last night will probably have returned to the 'Tiger', having failed?"

"I do not know. If a Tibetan fails in an order he is killed by torture, but it may be different."

"You must lead me to this cave. I will protect you. If you fail me I will kill you with one of my magic devils."

"No, no. Not them." His fright was too obvious to be feigned. "I will lead you, but you must save me. Your magic is greater than the 'Tiger's'."

Handing the prisoner over to his guard once more, Geoffrey returned to the house, and this time found both father and daughter up. He told them of his news, and announced his intention of a starting out immediately, with Sher Khan and one of the Bhotias, for the cave, under the Tibetan's guidance. He might thus manage to overtake the Tibetans and capture them all.

They reached the cave by 10 a.m. only to find it empty. Nor were there any signs of very recent habitation.

Disappointed, but not altogether surprised, Geoffrey immediately ordered the return march, and it was almost dark when they started the final descent towards the Sher Khan.

"Nay, sahib, nay." It was Sher Khan who spoke. "We must first rest. Tired men cannot fight, and we slept till last night."

"But it is our one chance to catch them up. To-morrow it will be too late. I tell you we must go at once."

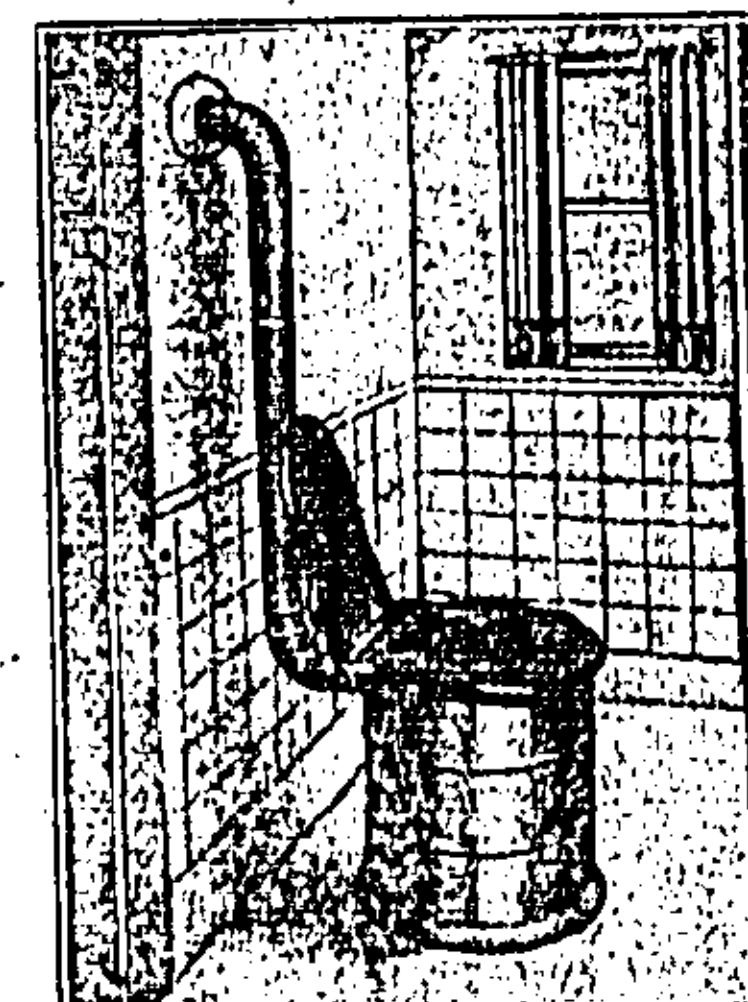

"Sahib, my heart bleeds for you. I am only a Pathan and not a sahib, but believe me I understand. The miss-sahib is very brave as well as beautiful. She will be a fitting mate for my colonel-sahib. But at present that colonel-sahib's anguish prevents him from thinking clearly. I have a plan. Let him hear it, and having heard it tell me whether it is not good. My heart is heavy, very heavy, for his suffering, and I will gladly die for him and the miss-sahib should my death be of any profit to either. Hear my plan, O Barraklo Sahib, who saved my life, and perchance I may help to save the lives of those whom you love."

Geoffrey gripped the Pathan's hand. "Speak on, Sher Khan, I cannot think."

"Sahib, this is a trap and the miss-sahib is the bait. The 'Tiger' has no war with her. You are his danger. He knows that you will follow the miss-sahib and her father with a view to rescuing them. He will therefore be prepared, and if we do what he expects we will fall into the trap and our purpose will have failed. If we were to start at once, we would undoubtedly catch the enemy up before dawn, but we have already had three firing days and bad nights. We two would stand little chance against twenty-two, especially when the twenty-two are expecting us. I do not think that either the miss-sahib or the padre-sahib are in any danger. The 'Tiger' will treat them well. If he

Mainly Women

Personality And Perfume

Table Of Types And Essences.

CHOOSING WITH CARE

THERE is a peculiar notion still rife among a great number of women, and assiduously fostered by their menfolk, that it is not quite nice to use any other perfume than a trace of Lavender Water or eau-de-Cologne.

This is a very great pity, for, if people only knew, it is not the use of "perfume," but of the "wrong kind" of perfume, that they so dislike. Bearing in mind your type, and with a little knowledge of the art of perfumery, you can make your choice with almost scientific correctness.

Nearly every "fancy" perfume—that is one with an abstract, and not generic name—has its origin in some flower extract, although the flower may have become so remote as to be almost indefinable. With a little practice, however, you will nearly always be able to detect the origin and know whether it agrees with your type. Here is a table of the chief types and essences.

The tall, fair woman—Lavender, Mimosa, Lilac, eau-de-Cologne.

The short, fair woman—Sweet Pea, Sandalwood, and Acacia.

The tall, dark woman—Lily Narcissus, Hyacinth.

The short, dark, Celtic type—Carnation, Clove, and Pink.

The short, dark, Latin type—Very sophisticated versions of Rose Essence or perfumes built up from Oriental spices.

The auburn-haired woman—Bergamot and Mignonette.

The ash-blond—Chypre and Musk.

The elderly, rather plump woman—For her I suggest perfumes that are in the same class as Rose, Magnolia, and Patchouli.

The elderly, slim, austere type—Rosemary and Lavender.

The brown-haired woman of middle height—Hellebore, Lavender, Rosemary, Sweet Pea, and Jasmine.

Velveteen Vogue Coming

Predicted By Paris Dress Expert.

RIBBED AND PLAIN

ACCORDING to Chanel we shall see many velveteen suits during the approaching months.

There are ribbed and plain velvets in sober-colours—black, dark-green, blues and reds. Fancy patterned jersey blouses distinguish a morning trend from an afternoon one in white satin and floral laces, some of which have coloured tartan plaid designs. Another material individual to this designer is a close canvas weave wool lame with gold.

It is used in laques red for an interesting suit made on sporting lines to go with a plain shirt blouse of golden lame for late afternoon wear. This tissue is a daywear invasion, and comes in darker shades, such as black, green and brown, with gold.

There are other materials with a "de luxe" character in simple designs made up on sporting lines for afternoon wear. One ensemble in deep brown mat satin has a cravat with a white spot of ordinary size widely spaced. The half-length black, but all line coat worn over the frock shows narrow cuffs and collar of kolinsky, the latter being tied with a string of the material, which is repeated for a belt on the coat with big patch pockets.

THE FREEDOM OF THE KNEES

Next Year's Tennis For Women.

DIVIDED STYLES

LONDON. BRITAIN'S army of women tennis players will spend much time this winter appraising their knees in the mirror, for next summer it will be according to all the portents—a matter of shorts for women.

Such crazes as the "Lenglen bandeau" and the "Helen Wills eyeshade" are to be reproduced by the shorts fashion.

Many pairs of shorts, I was informed yesterday, have been sold in the past few weeks to club women players in England.

But, as might be expected in an affair of feminine fashions, a sharp schism is already dividing the shorts advocates and makers into two camps. On the one hand there is the dainty, frilly, alken shorts, fully living up to its (or their?) name in the matter of length. Mr. Fearley Whittingtall appeared in these, and photographs of her so allayed caused a minor rush of emulators.

Elsewhere, however, these shorts are looked upon with some disfavour, and a linen affair of more spartan lines is produced which looks more like a brief skirt.

A Note For Colour. Women players in New York are reported to be wearing shorts enlivened by a blue stripe down the sides. Did this portend a tendency towards the introduction of colour?

Women will strive to express themselves in shorts as in everything else. Next year will see coloured shorts for tennis, and white ones with gay embroideries. There may also be coloured initials on on-dressing-gowns.

The hot summer has been a great factor in this introduction of the craze, but next year, whatever the weather, will see the great army of "park players" and others taking to shorts.

SPALDING for Speed

The all-important factor in modern lawn tennis is speed and yet more speed. Other things being equal the man with that extra speed wins the match.

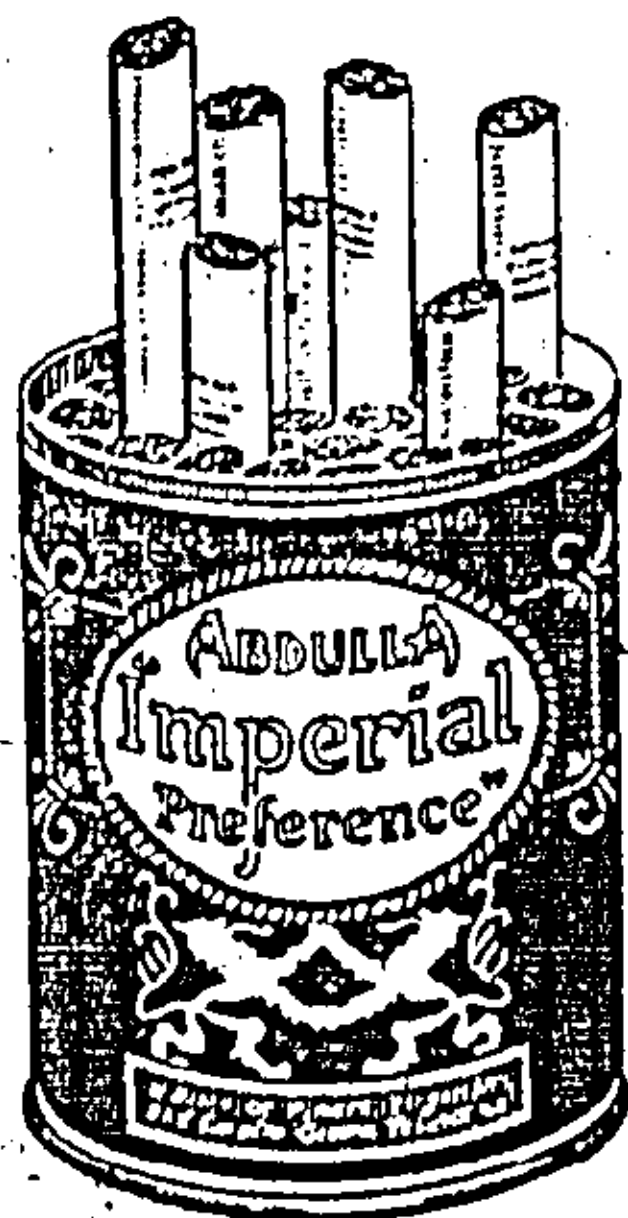

The new Spalding laminated multi-ply rackets are the fastest and most powerful ever produced. They can be strung to the highest possible tension without risk of warping thus giving tremendous pace to the ball as it leaves the racket.

The Spalding range of rackets for 1933 comprises seventeen attractive models at prices to suit all purses.

America's Dilemma In Cuba.

SYMPATHY is general, except in the Communistic parts of the world, for America in her dilemma in Cuba. The position in that unhappy Island has grown worse instead of improving, and the stability which was expected after the flight of General Machado proved to be short-lived, his successor to the Presidency, Dr. de Cespedes, failing to establish control. The amazing revolt within the Army, in which 500 officers resigned as a Sergeant took command, saw the last remnant of authority disappear, with the result that Communists have converted disorder and uncertainty into unruly chaos. During the week the cables have revealed a dangerously disturbed situation in Cuba. The outbreak of strikes has created a position that is desperate economically, and the attacks on mills
by excited mobs, among whom the "Red" element was predominant, have endangered the safety of several American and British residents. The food shortage, consequent on the general strike and the breakdown of communications, may lead to further disorders, and the looting of American residents' homes, reported in yesterday's cables, indicates that the spread of lawlessness is rapidly approaching the stage where American armed intervention is imminent.
The United States administration has so far displayed commendable restraint, and despite the presence of the 39 warships in Cuban waters no troops have yet been landed, although the provocation has been sufficient to justify such a course of action. Of the many factors governing President Roosevelt's reluctance to use force, not the least is his anxiety to avoid adding to his own enormous domestic difficulties. In the thirty-two years since the Cuban Republic was established after the throwing off of the Spanish rule there have been four American interventions. In one case an American administration governed the country from 1906 to 1909.

The principal reason for Washington's restraint is, however,
the attitude of the Latin-American countries. "Down with Yankee Imperialism" has become a popular cry in the revolution, and South American States are watching the situation with marked attention.
It is notable that the worst form of that sort of evil to which Latin-American politics are prone should have arisen again and again in an Island which lies at the very threshold of the United States. Cuba is almost a part of that country's economic system through the prevalence of American ownership and influence in its agriculture, industries, and general business life. The economic penetration of the Latin Republics by American capital and enterprise is everywhere far advanced; in Cuba, despite some proportion of British investment, it is virtually complete, even to the point of American currency being legal tender and in general use. America's special interest in the Island is, moreover, recognised in a provision—dictated by Washington—of the Cuban Constitution expressly affirming America's right of intervene for the establishment of sound governmental conditions.

Events are fast moving towards a crisis and there is faint hope that the Cubans may find the solution without outside interference.
Politically, the issue appears to rest between the rival factions headed respectively by Dr. de Cespedes and the acting-President, Professor San Martin. The latter, who is supported by the Army junta but opposed by the majority of the Army officers, appears unable to maintain control. Little has been heard lately of the American Ambassador, Mr. Welles, whose "mediation" hastened the downfall of General Machado. His nominee, Dr. de Cespedes, evidently commands the support of the more Conservative groups,
and if restored to the Presidency would probably prove acceptable both to Washington and to the majority of his countrymen. Although the Cubans probably do not recognise the fact at the moment, it is fortunate that the Republic is virtually "underwritten" by the United States. Otherwise the prospects for a return to peace and normalcy would be much more remote than at present.

NEW LOCAL FERRY
SERVICETwo Runs To Hunghom
And Kowloon City.GOVERNMENT INVITE TENDERS

The Government are inviting tenders for the maintenance of a new ferry service between Hong Kong, Hunghom, Kowloon City and Sai Wan Ho, according to the current Government Gazette.

Conditions for the service included the following. The service shall provide for not less than one departure every half hour between 5 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily from each of the following points.

Vehicular Ferry Wharf Hong Kong Hunghom Ferry Pier, and Kowloon City Pier

and one departure every hour between 5 a.m. and 6 p.m. daily from the Sai Wan Wan Ho Pier.

Two Runs Contemplated.
The ferry runs contemplated are—

(1) Victoria, Hunghom, Kowloon City; and

(2) Hunghom, Sai Wan Ho.
Alternative runs may be submitted in any tender so long as all the before named localities are served.

The licensee may charge for every passenger, fares not exceeding—

2nd class—5 cents.
1st class—10 cents.

Every tenderer must submit a list of maximum charge for the carriage of cargo and goods, but the settlement of those charges and their inclusion in the licence shall not imply any monopoly or exclusive right to the licensee in the carriage of cargo or goods of any description.

Sealed tenders in triplicate which should be marked "Tender for Ferries," will be received at the Colonial Secretary's Office until noon on October 5.

LOCAL COMPANIES
ORDINANCE.Clarification Of Term
"Certified."

In the current Government Gazette will be found a definition of the term "certified" in reference to certified copies of any instrument constituting or defining the constitution of a Limited Company, which is required to be delivered to the Registrar under the provisions of the Companies Ordinance 1932, and a list of those persons whose cer-tification of the copy or copies will be accepted.

The Order, which is made by the Governor in Council under the powers conferred by the Companies Ordinance 1932, deals first with Companies incorporated in Great Britain or Ireland or in any of his Majesty's Dominions or in any place under His Majesty's protection, or where His Majesty has jurisdiction, unless incorporated under the laws of a foreign country; and, in a separate sub-section, with Companies incorporated outside the Colony under the laws of a foreign country.

BUSINESS REPLY
ENVELOPES.New Post Office Concession.

Under a new Order in Council
the Business Reply Envelope and Card system mentioned in the Post Office Regulations 1932, which enables a person to obtain transmission, through the local post, without prepayment of postage, of envelopes and cards addressed to himself, which he may distribute enclosed with advertising or other matter, now comes into operation.

Persons desiring the facilities afforded by the system must first obtain a permit from the Postmaster-General, the fee for which is $10 annually.

These reply envelopes and cards transmitted to the permit-holder
will be calculated at prepaid rates, which will be collected from him on delivery; but they cannot be registered, insured, or marked for express delivery.

By-Election's Anomaly

A curious point in Parliamentary law emerges in connection with the vacancies in Harborough and East Fulham. The by-election in Har-borough cannot take place until Parliament reassembles in November; the Fulham fight can begin almost at once.

It is a settled principle of Parliamentary law that a member cannot resign his seat. In order to retire he must "accept office under the Crown"—that is to say, he must apply for the office of steward or bailiff of His Majesty's three Chiltern Hundreds of Stoke, Desborough, and Burnham; or that of steward of the manor of North-stead. Lord Castle Stewart has applied for the Chiltern Hundreds.
The acceptance of the office at once vacates the seat, and even qualifies the holder to be elected for another, but no new writ for his old seat can be issued during a Parliamentary vacation.

Mr. Ronald Tree and the Harborough Seat

It is understood that the Conservative candidate most fancied in the Whips' Office for the vacancy at Harborough, created by the recent resignation of Lord Castle Stewart, is Mr. Ronald Tree, the joint-master of the Pychley.

Mr. Tree is a son of the late Lady Beatty by her first marriage, and a grandson of the late Marshall Field of Chicago. He is married to a niece of Lady Astor.

Hitherto Mr. Tree, time during his long residence in England has been divided between hunting here and watching his business interests in America. Last December he announced that he was giving up his joint-mastership of the Pychley next year in order to devote his whole time to agriculture.

Mr. Tree is shortly to be natu-ralised. As the writ for Har-borough will not be moved until Parliament meets he has ample time in which to acquire British nationality.

A Soldier-Author

The September number of "Blackwood's" contains a whimsical short story entitled "Private Warfare," by Tom Bridges.

This straightforward signature
conceals the identity of General Sir Tom Bridges, leader of the famous "Tinean Band" in the Mons retreat, and former Governor of South Australia.

General Bridges lost a leg in the war. He was commanding the 19th Division at the time, and characteristically was in the front-line trenches when he had no right to be there. Despite this physical handicap, he was playing tennis until, a year ago, and has now been trying his hand at tunny-fishing.

He has a reputation as a landscape artist, and is frequently to be seen at art shows. The short story now published in his first essay in literature, although at one time he had an ambition to write history.
Instead, he made it.

Mr. Shaw and Lord Lansdowne

Mr. Bernard Shaw very characteristically tries to give a new aspect to the Lansdowne letter.

Lansdowne, he says, was a supporter of the "old monarchical order" and saw the danger in which the War involved it. He claims that Lansdowne's presence, has been justified by the event.

But that was not at all the point of the letter. Lansdowne argued that complete victory was impossible, since the two sides were so evenly matched. He advocated peace by negotiation not as an alternative to the ruin of the monarchical system, but as an alternative to the combatants fighting themselves to a standstill without either gaining a definite advantage.

And in that the event did not justify him.

A Costly Insect

No specimen of the Colorado
beetle has been found in England for 22 years. The place in which it has now been found is close to that where it appeared 22 years ago—on an allotment adjoining Tilbury Docks.

With the solitary exception of the devastating Phylloxera fly, which at the height of its power was estimated to be doing £50,000-000 of damage a year to the French vine-growers, the Colorado beetle is the most dangerous of agricultural insects.

It multiplies at enormous speed, passes through 12 generations in a year, and apparently is able to travel about 150 miles in a year.

Since the beetle became established in France in 1922 the British Government have kept strict watch on the ports and prohibited the import of French potatoes from any district within 125 miles of the nearest infected area, but the insect has pierced our defences.
The most rigorous destruction of infected crops will be necessary if it is to be repulsed.

A City Attack

Mr. Walter Stutters, who on August 22 made a bold attack on the National Government at the offices of the City of London Conservative Association, of which he is an official, is probably the oldest Conservative organiser in the City.

He urged that Conservatives should shed their Labour and Socialist associations. This advice, given, as it was, in what is almost an adjunct of the party machine, recall to me a remark once made by a wit that he proposed to publish a series—"Outspoken Public Men:
No. 1, Mr. Stutters."

Mr. Stutters was speaking as vice-chairman of the 1912 Club, a branch of the Association's work which has an interesting origin. It was founded in the year of its name with a membership of ardent Protectionists who used to address street-corner meetings in the East End.

And they boldly proclaimed—the year because they thought it would see the triumph of Joe Chamberlain's policy. Their enthusiasm was splendid; their prophesy just 20 years out.

Honour for Conductor

The Royal Philharmonic Society,
now 123 years old, has decided to award its gold medal to Sir Hamilton Harty during their forthcoming season.

This is a high distinction; only a handful of very eminent musicians have received it. The ceremony usually occurs in public at one of the society's concerts. The last notably honoured with the medal was Rachmaninoff. Having played one of his difficult concertos with the utmost assurance, he was apparently stricken with terror by the appearance on the platform of a group of the "Phil's" officials, and he retired behind his piano with a ghastly smile.

Fire Brigade Promotion

Plans for a change of policy in Fire Brigade are being drafted,
the organisation of the London
Fire Brigade are being drafted
it affects the system of promotion.
A recommendation will shortly be put before the L.C.C. that in future every London fireman shall be given an opportunity of rising to command the Brigade.

In the past the London Fire Brigade has been commanded almost exclusively by naval officers.
What fewer people know is that the majority of London's firemen are ex-sailors.

It is understood that the Fire Brigade Committee, which has been considering the proposed revision
revision of the promotion system, is almost unanimously in favour.

Why KLIM Interests You

KLIM is as good, as pure, and as wholesome as the best grades of certified milk sold. Its bacteria count is well within the certified milk limit.

The best is cheapest, usually. With KLIM there is no doubt of this. There is no waste with KLIM. You mix only what you really need.

Unexpected guests, storms, milk accidentally spilled or prematurely soured have no terrors for the housewife who gets her milk from the KLIM dairy.

KLIM POWDERED WHOLE MILK is full cream milk and is used as such for all purposes. You can mix it DOUBLE STRENGTH and enjoy the richness of CREAM for coffee and cereals.

Packed in three sizes, 1 lb., 2½ lb. and 5 lb. tins. Obtainable at all stores.

Members of the Wing On staff are keen footballers. This group consisting of the A, B & C teams was taken on the occasions when the A team won the cup for 1933.

Intense religious fervour pervaded the last funeral ceremonies. The body was taken in procession and laid on a pyre of sandalwood, the chief officiating priest lighting it. Flags and pennants waved from the pyre and a hushed silence descended on the vast populace as the last mortal remains of the great man crumbled into ashes.—(S. & G.).

MERCANTILE MARINE INSURANCE ASSISTANCE FUND

Government Ordinance Drafted.

RELIEF FOR COLONY'S SEAMEN

The provision of a Mercantile Marine Assistance Fund, directly financed from the revenues of the Colony and administered by an official Committee, marks an important step in local legislation.

A draft Ordinance to this effect is published in the current issue of the Government Gazette.

Officers or seamen of the Mercantile Marine, or their dependents, who are, in the opinion of the Committee, deserving of and needing such assistance, are qualified to receive relief from the Fund. Relief will be granted either by the payment, wholly or in part, of passages from the Colony, or in regular or temporary assistance in the Colony.

Any qualified person desiring assistance must apply to the Harbour Master, who will be the Chairman of the Committee, giving full particulars of his circumstances. The Harbour Master, after making such enquiry as he may deem necessary, will convene a meeting of the Committee to consider the case.

Passages Or Assistance.

At any such meeting four members will be deemed a quorum, the decisions of the Committee will be determined by a majority of votes and the Chairman will have an original vote and also, if the votes be equal, a casting vote.

The grant or refusal of assistance will be in the absolute discretion of the Committee.

Assistance is to be of three descriptions:—

(a) The payment, in whole or in part, of passages from the Colony.

(b) Regular assistance in the Colony.

(c) Temporary assistance in the Colony.

Assistance may be reduced, suspended or discontinued at any time by the Committee. In no case will it be granted to a person who has received a passage, or an assisted passage from the Colony and has returned thereto.

For British Subjects
Regular assistance will be granted only to qualified persons who are British subjects and who reside, or whose families reside in the Colony.

The Harbour Master may at any time grant temporary assistance at a charge on the Fund to an amount of or in value not exceeding $20 in respect of any one qualified applicant, on his own responsibility and without consulting the other members of the Committee.

The Committee will each year furnish to the Governor a report on their administration of the Fund.

Objects and Reasons.
The object of this Ordinance is to establish in the Colony a Mercantile Marine Assistance Fund to be administered by a Committee financed by the revenues of the Colony.

Similar Funds have been established in Singapore and Penang, but there the financing is done by debiting the expenses of the Fund against a particular section of the revenue, the fees paid in respect of Sunday Cargo Working exemptions. In Calcutta a proportion of the Sunday working fees is allocated to the Seamen's Welfare Committee there. In England similar service is performed by the Mercantile Marine Masters and Officers Relief Fund which receives contributions from the National Relief Fund, King George's Fund and other sources.

INSURANCE AGAINST KIDNAPPING

Lloyds Policies Up To $100,000.

NEGOTIATIONS IN SECRET

Chicago.
Insurance against kidnapping up to $100,000 is being offered through Lloyds, according to reports of the Tribune.

Prominent and wealthy persons in various cities have been secretly insured against the menace under premiums of three-quarters of one per cent. for adults and one and a half per cent. for children, says the paper.

Adults also may insure themselves in the same policy against injuries while in the hands of abductors for additional premium payments.

The paper said that negotiations for the policies are conducted under conditions of utmost secrecy. Only persons of unquestioned reputation are considered by the insurers and they must have been free from any involvements with shady or undesirable characters. The name of the insurer for insurance is cabled to London by code and only the senior Chicago representative of the insuring group knows the identities of the applicant, the paper continues.

That is to prevent possible kidnappers from obtaining knowledge of the transactions.

Among the cities from which inquiries have come, the Tribune said, regarding the anti-kidnap policies are Albany, New York, home of John J. O'Connell, a recent kidnap victim and Kansas City, where two women have been abducted within recent months, Miss Mary McElroy and Mrs. Nell Donnelly.—Reuter.

News In Brief.

The annual general meeting of St. Andrew's Club will be held in the St. Andrew's Church Hall on Monday at 9 p.m.

The rainfall for the 24 hours ending at 10 a.m. yesterday was 0.30 of an inch, making a total, since January 1, of 50.69 inches, against an average of 73.67 inches.

Commendatore A. Bluntoni, Consul General for Italy will speak on "The Industrial Development of Italy in the Last Ten Years" at next Tuesday's meeting of the Hong Kong Rotary Club.

Chan Wing, aged 6, was on Friday evening admitted to the Kowloon Hospital suffering from severe injuries to the head as a result of falling from the first floor verandah of 439 Shanghai Street.

Wong See, aged 51, was admitted to the Government Civil Hospital on Friday afternoon suffering from the effects of immersion when he attempted to commit suicide by jumping overboard from the Mong Kok ferry.

Tong Fai, a Chinese male aged 32, was admitted to the Kowloon Hospital on Friday evening, suffering from severe head and body injuries as a result of falling from a fire-escape stairway into the back yard of 202 Keo Lung Street.

Chung Kwai, charged with the possession of 192 po piu lottery tickets, who admitted two previous convictions for the same offence, was fined $300, in default four months' hard labour, by Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

A Chinese male, Chung Ching, was yesterday morning admitted to the Government Civil Hospital suffering from minor injuries to the head caused by being knocked down by motor car No. 2020 in Queen's Road West in the early hours of the morning.

The "Revelation" mirror, now being shown in the Gloucester Arcade, which becomes transparent when lighted from behind, differs from ordinary mirrors in the fact that the glass is chemically treated instead of being coated with silver on the reverse.

Personal Pars.

The engagement is announced between Ian Winchester Shewan, Hong Kong youngest son of Alexander Shewan, I.C.S. (ret.), and the late Mrs. Shewan, Seagate, St. Andrews, and Allison, youngest daughter of Edward Alexander Miller and the late Mrs. Miller, 8 Abbotsford Crescent, St. Andrews.

CHAN KING-MING PASSES

Former Civil Governor Of Kwangtung.

PICTURESQUE CAREER

For many years one of the most prominent and picturesque figures in Chinese national politics, Marshal Chan King-ming (Chen Ching-ming), a former Tsuchun and Civil Governor of Kwangtung Province, died at his residence at No. 25, Yuk Sau Street, Happy Valley, on Friday morning, at the age of 57.

The cause of death was typhoid fever. He is survived by his mother, three sons and five daughters.

From a humble beginning, the late Marshal Chan quickly gained the post of Commandant in the Kwangtung army, and in 1913, backed by a large military following of his clansmen, from Wai-chow, he was appointed as Tsuchun for Kwangtung. From this position, however, he was forced to resign owing to the monarchical designs of President Yuan Shi-kai, whom he strongly opposed.

Following the death of President Yuan Shi-kai, Marshal Chan again resumed the direction of military affairs in the south in the Directorate of Dr. Sun Yat-sen, and was appointed Civil Governor of the province concurrently with his military post. It was at this stage of his career, 1922, that Marshal Chan carried out his greatest coup, springing a surprise attack on the Presidential Yamen in Canton and causing a temporary suspension of the regime set up by Dr. Sun Yat-sen in Canton in opposition to the northern government. Dr. Sun, however, was warned of the attack, and made his escape.

DEATH OF CIVIL SERVANT

Mr. E. L. Agassiz.

OFFICIAL REGISTRAR OF TRADE MARKS

The death occurred at 10 o'clock yesterday morning of Mr. E. L. Agassiz, Official Receiver and Registrar of Trade Marks and Letters Patent, at the French Hospital, where he had been an inmate for the past month.

The deceased leaves a widow, who is now in Hong Kong.

In the absence of Mr. J. R. Wood, the Chief Justice, who is away on holiday, Mr. R. E. Lindsell, the Puisne Judge, will sit in the main court to-morrow at 12.30, when he will make mention of the deceased.

The late Mr. Agassiz, who was 54 years of age, was an admitted solicitor of the Supreme Court of England.

He received his first official appointment under the Government of the Colony in May 1920 and served as Acting Assistant Crown Solicitor in the same year.

He became Acting Official Receiver, in Bankruptcy in November 1925, receiving the substantive appointment in January 1927.

The funeral will take place at Happy Valley to-day at 4.30 passing the Monument.

JUNK CAPSIZED IN TYPHOON.

Woman And Three Children Drowned.

Chau Tai-shan, master of a fishing boat, reported to the Police on Friday that, while fishing off San Mun at about 6 a.m. last Wednesday, the day of the typhoon, his junk was suddenly caught by a terrific gust of wind which capsized the vessel, throwing its occupants into the water.

Chau Tai-shan's wife and three children and two other folk, being unable to swim, were drowned, while he and another folk managed to reach Leung Shuang-wan, where they boarded a junk and were brought to Shaokwan.

VOLCANOES TELL AGE OF WORLD

Nature's Treasure Finders.

GEOLOGICAL CONGRESS

Washington.

A new use for volcanoes—as clocks to date events in the earth's past—and how nature digs for deal "buried treasure" with giant granite corkscrews were described to the International Geological Congress by Mr. Rosendrans of Pennsylvania State College, who said they can serve to date events as far back as 400,000,000 years, or even earlier.

In many volcanic eruptions ash is thrown out, which forms a layer over surrounding country. Eventually the ash turns into a deposit known as bentonite, and this gives a clue to the age of surrounding rocks. The age of the bentonite can usually be calculated accurately.

Learning the age of rocks is the first step toward learning the age of the earth. The bentonite beds serve as a check on the ages of rocks as determined from fossil plants and animals found in them. Sometimes the fossil "clock" is not reliable, for two different kinds of animals may have lived at the same time in two nearby regions. If the same blanket of bentonite is spread over both areas it is known they are the same age even if the fossils are different.

Hints about where to look for real, naturally-occurring buried treasure—jewels such as emeralds, rubies and sapphires and rare minerals such as radium, even more precious—were offered by Dr. Edward B. Matthews of Johns Hopkins University.

"The most likely place," he said, "is where giant granite 'corkscrews' or 'batholiths' have pushed their way up spirally to the surface from deep within the earth. The batholiths force the 'treasure' out of deep-buried rocks where it is originally formed and carry it in concentrated form to the surface."

Sometimes the batholiths are merely straight columns of granite. In any case they are bottomless. They form the cores of mountain ranges, and in old mountains, have been exposed by the washing away of the over-lying rock layers.—Reuter.

COMING CHARITY BAZAAR

Children's Hospital And Orphanage.

OPENING ON OCTOBER 6 BY LADY POLLOCK

The Annual Bazaar of the Children's Hospital of the Precious Blood will be held on October 6, 7 and 8, at the Precious Blood's building, Yuen Chow Street, Shumshuipo, to raise funds in aid of the Children's Hospital, Clinic and Orphanage. Lady Pollock, the Patroness, will perform the opening ceremony on Friday, October 6, at 3.30 p.m.

The Bazaar Committee is as follows:—Patroness, Lady Pollock; Hon. President, Mr. Ngan Shing-kwan; Hon. Vice President, Mr. R. C. H. Lim; Chairman, Mr. Simon Yung-kwong; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. W. C. Chan; Committee Members, Mrs. Fung Keong, the Misses Helen Lo, Florence I. Chan, Adele Leo and Dulcie Chan, Dr. Y. Y. Tang and Messrs. W. K. Chan, Lau Pak-wa, W. M. Chan and S. F. Kwan.

Thanks to the kind assistance of Dr. H. H. McElroy, Dr. Y. Y. Tang and Dr. H. D. Matthews, who have been regularly visiting the Children's Hospital and Clinic, in spite of the many calls on their services, the Hospital and Clinic have completed another year of good work for the poor of the Kowloon Peninsula.

During the year ending June 30, 1933, 876 in-patients and 1543 out-patients were dealt with. The average number of out-patients is now maintained at over 50 per day.

The Hospital has been recovering supplies of milk foods and medicines from the Hong Kong Society for the Protection of Children, which has also provided the services of Mrs. Perry, an Inspector of the same Society and a trained nurse, but the general upkeep of the Hospital and Clinic and the entire support of the orphans are still a very heavy burden on the Sisters, whose sole source of income is the proceeds of the yearly Bazaar and the sale of their knitted and embroidered articles.

It is hoped that the coming Bazaar will be successful, in order that the good work of the Sisters may be continued. For the bazaar, various stalls, providing many kinds of amusements and articles useful to patrons, will be arranged, while souvenir tickets at $2 and $1 each have been issued. A cheerful response from the public is confidently expected.

DOCK CLERK TURNS BAG-SNATCHER.

Woman Robbed While Mounting Stairs.

Wong Cheung, charged with snatching a hand bag containing $35 in notes, $12.85 in silver, $4 in Canton money and three pairs of gold and jade earrings, was yesterday morning sentenced to six months' hard labour by Mr. Schofield at the Central Magistracy.

Acting Sub-Inspector Nolloth said the complainant, Wong Wai-chan, returned home last night at 10 p.m. While she was on her way up the stairs at 217 Hennessey Road, someone approached her from behind and snatched her hand-bag away. She raised the alarm and a Chinese constable on point duty in Hennessey Road arrested the accused.

Accused, who had been in the Colony for 21 years, was previously employed at the Kowloon Docks as a clerk.

RETURNED BANISHED SENT TO GAOL.

Feeble Excuse Not Accepted.

Sentence of six months' hard labour was imposed on Au Leung, charged with a breach of the Deportation Ordinance, by Mr. Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

Accused said he had returned to the Colony to fetch some of his belongings.

Inspector Vincent said the accused had been banished for 10 years, and had been given an opportunity of collecting his belongings some time before his banishment took place. There was no excuse for his arrival back in the Colony.

Four Anchors To Steady Life

Fellowship, Fortitude Action And Certainty

NO BREAKING POINT

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

REMEMBER some years ago, in a debate, a speaker in a burst of oratory, described the English Channel as "that narrow strip of laughing water." The phrase came back to my mind last Sunday as we were crossing from Formosa to Amoy, chiefly by way of contrast, for by no stretch of imagination could conditions that day have had any connection with laughter. At this time of the year especially when typhoons are coming and going across the China Seas it is far more inclined to be rough than smooth. So it was with us, and more than one passenger was under the weather.

When the ship is combining a subtle roll with a pitch and toss, it tries even the most hardened sailor, until he does not very much mind whether the ship goes to the bottom or not, in fact he rather wishes that it would. A person once said after landing at Holyhead that what appealed to him most about heaven at that moment, was the promise that that there would be no more sea.

In the diary of a shipwrecked doctor, a diary compiled with a vividness worthy of the sea tales of Robert Louis Stephenson, we come across the following extract: "And when neither sun nor stars appeared for many days, and when we were exceedingly tossed by the tempest and driven to and fro in the Ser of Adria, and when the fourteenth night was come and all hope was now taken away, we cast out four anchors and wished for the day."

Sometimes as we are sailing along the seas of human life we run into conditions somewhat similar to those, and we wonder what we are going to do. The light of the stars is shut out, there seems no way of escape. But if we think for a moment, for us too there are four anchors we can throw out to steady the ship until the longed-for day appears.

Human Fellow Ship.

There is, first of all the anchor of human Fellowship.

There were 276 souls aboard that ship. The ordeal they were suffering was common to them all. Whoever you are, you are not alone. You are not the only pebble that is sometimes cast up on the shores of uncertainty and doubt. Read biography and you will learn that many of the finest characters have fought their way to clearer light through the darkness of doubt. It is often the mark of spiritual earnestness and mental activity. The indifferent do not doubt. They are too lazy. They have not enough soul. Doubt is part of the very "make-up" of our souls. God calls on us to make a venture of faith which brings out the finest in our composition. But the price we have to pay is the accompanying uncertainty.

Another discovery you will make is that by the law of its being, the soul will right itself. It has the stable equilibrium of a well-designed ship. Even when a ship is rolling heavily, (sea-sickness permitting) we need not worry as we realize the ship's power to right itself. Our souls are seaworthy. We are able to sail out of the storm into the calm.

Browning knew it and spent his life in proclaiming it:—
If I stoop into a tremendous sea of cloud God's lamp
Is but for a time, I press
Close to my breast. Its splendour soon or late Will pierce the gloom. I shall emerge one day."

The darkest hour precedes the dawn. The diary of the mariner ended in a happy sequel. And so it came to pass that they all escaped safe to land.

Belief in Ideals.
The Anchor of some Certainty.

There is sure to be something you have never doubted, some ideal you have never lost. Hang on to that in the darkness. Or we may recall some hallowed moments, perhaps even some desperate moments, when we knew God was very near. Well, use these things as an anchor for the soul. What you have once seen in the light never doubt in the darkness. Paul staked everything on the vision he had seen. In the strength of it he became the strong man of the ship.

Perhaps you can recall some day when you laid down some great book which spoke your deepest feelings. You saw an ideal you longed to follow, or you may have come into contact with a beautiful soul, who lived very close to God, and you knew that love would never die. These are the great moments of life. Cling to them.

Stimulating Action.

It is better to wear out than to rust out. Do something. Action is the best antidote to apathy and despair. St. Paul was practical. He made the sailors eat their breakfast. Your doubts may only be temperamental, and it will do you good to move about. Or depression may be a sign of general debility. It may depend upon your liver. Then take every step to regain good health and digestion.

Doubt sometimes follows in the wake of high endeavour when the nerves are overwrought. Well, the spiritual and the physical are so closely interwoven, that we must study the laws that govern both. Again too much thinking apart from action is not good. The University raises problems and life solves them. Or it may be that we are too self-centred. Then the way out of the darkness is to stretch out a helping hand to other wrestlers on the troubled sea.

The Anchor of Fortitude Always Hang On.

Hold on! Sometimes all other anchors drag, and we are left with this one hope.

Dr. Hutton, the well known preacher tells the following story:

A young man from the West wrote to me that he had come to New York to be married. His fiancée and he were doing a little shopping on the eve of their wedding. Two days later she was buried. He told me that he was quite calm, quite cold and silent. He resolved to take his life. He took a room high up in a hotel. Sunday was the day he had decided on to do the deed, and that morning he saw the announcement of my subject, "The Breaking Point." He said, "I will go and hear what a person knows about this kind of thing." His letter was to tell me that while he sat there something came to him that stayed his hand. He repeated the last two things I had said. I had never used the words before. I had not planned to say them. They were these: First "It is always possible to hang on a little longer," and second, "In a world like this, not forsaken by God, you never know what good thing is waiting just around the corner."

WHERE SCOUTING FORMS A PART OF STATE EDUCATION MUSSOLINI'S AIMS AND IDEALS FOR YOUNG ITALY

(By Lord Baden-Powell.)

"MUSSOLINI is always right." This is the tenth year of the Fascist regime in Italy. Only time can show how far this statement is borne out by results, but in the meantime let us assume that it is true.

Sir Michael Sadler, Professor Jacks, and many others have of late urged recreational education as a means of bringing the training of youth on to a footing more adequate to the needs of the newer conditions of life.

Evolution has gone on so rapidly during the years succeeding the war, and especially during the last four or five years or economic upset, that it has been difficult for the ordinary school methods to keep pace with the changing demands of life.

School Training

Signor Mussolini, having full command over the men and money of his country, has set up a new step in education which, though it is as yet but in its embryonic stage, cannot fail to have its interest for those who are in the fashionable phrase—exploring new avenues.

The scheme, briefly, is to take a training like that of the Boy Scouts or Girl Guides on to the ordinary school curriculum. In place of the term "Scout" an equally popular name in Italy has been adopted, namely "Balilla." But since the new organisation was framed on the lines of the Scout movement. Just as the name "Scout" had its appeal to boys, the Italian movement adopted for their inspiration the name of the boy hero of Genoa—"Balilla."

To meet the adolescent psychology of the Balilla organisation was divided into three progressive grades, namely:

Equivalent to	From
Balilla	Wolf Cubs 8 to 13
Avanguardisti Scouts	14 to 17
Cadetti	Rovers 18 to 20

On coming up to the last grade the young Italian is enrolled with due ceremonial, which includes the handing over of a rifle, into the voluntary militia, equivalent to our Territorials; and thence he passes two years later into the Regular Army for a period of eighteen months' compulsory service.

Uniform Self-paid

Uniform, of course, is an important attraction to the boys, and has at the same time its value in developing an amour propre and sense of discipline, and particularly in obliterating any signs of difference in social standing.

Therefore the Balilla, like the Scouts, have their uniform, distinctive according to the grade to which they belong. This, in the junior grade, consists of a plain (black) shirt, blue neckerchief, grey-green shorts and stockings, differing only from our boys in the head-dress.

A minor point about the uniform is that in both movements its cost is defrayed by the boy himself. This fact has a certain moral value in teaching the boy not to expect everything to be done for him, but that if he wants a thing he can get it by working for it. This gives him some sense of rightful proprietorship.

The subjects of instruction are very similar in both cases in the junior grades. Bodily health and development is considered of prime importance; but like all the other subjects, it is encouraged through effort and interest on the part of the boy himself.

All kinds of outdoor games are practised to this end, including football, hockey, baseball and the like, athletic contests, swimming, hiking, and camping, in the same way as has always been done in Scouting. So, too, handicraft and hobbies of all kinds are encouraged as leading to vocational proficiency. This recreational training is carried on in the evenings after school hours, and on Sundays, general parades are held.

In the ultimate aims of the Italian and English movements respectively there is, however, a considerable difference, since that of the Balilla is definitely to develop a strong nationalist spirit, coupled with efficiency for military service.

In the Balilla administration is decentralised on much the same plan as in the Boy Scout; thus each Province is autonomous under a President—(Commissioner)—and Council, with a central headquarters, and each district in the Province in its turn is managed by District Commissioner and committee. A typical provincial headquarters which I visited deals with some 80,000 boys. In the building, which was a fine modern one, were offices for the Commissioners respectively of physical training, military training, sea training (equivalent to our Sea Scouts), finance, and girls' training (similar to the Girl Guides).

Medical Care

There was also a health clinic, fitted up with rooms and apparatus respectively for X-rays, violet ray treatment, oculist, dentist, aurist, throat and nose specialist, and others.

A medical record is kept of every boy and girl, with periodical inspection, and those requiring it are given remedial exercises and treatment, while others needing change of air sent free to the convalescent home by the sea or to one in the mountains, where there is accommodation for 400.

There were workshops for electrical and wireless enthusiasts, of whom there were reported to be many, also for motorizing, modelling, drawing &c.; while for aviation there was a full-sized glider and aeroplane engines complete for practical instruction. There were also a large well-equipped cinema theatre, stores of camp equipment, dormitories for visiting groups of Balilla, and a gymnasium.

Of gymnasia belonging to the Balilla there were twenty-two in the city and fourteen in the rural districts of the Province. Of these rural gymnasia there are altogether 3,763 in Italy.

Officers' College

In the selection of candidates for appointment as officers for the Balilla two among the many qualifications were noteworthy. One was their physical fitness and athletic ability, and the other (which might well be given a higher place in the testing of teachers nearer home) was their knowledge and sympathetic understanding of the boy.

Millions of Gallons maturing—
Older and better than ever

Never was your White Horse as good or as old as it is to-day. Years ago, exceptionally heavy stocks of the finest whiskies were laid down to anticipate sales which the quality would justify. These stocks are now fully matured. The result is that WHITE HORSE is now older and better than ever before, excellent as it was in 1932 and preceding years. This advance in quality and age will be maintained. White Horse is now the equivalent of a fine liqueur.

WISE & OTHERWISE

Asking for Trouble.
A London couple have just been fined 30s. each for carving their initials in a heart on a park bench. They are lucky. Many a couple's serving a life sentence for that.

3 A.M. PROVERB.

One word to the wife is insufficient.

Jazz You Were.

"Dance music is now becoming much the same as it was fifteen years ago," declares a critic.

COURSE JOKE.

Two swallows may not make a summer, but they frequently make a mead in a seaside boarding house.

HE MUST BE

"Is old Angus a typical Scotsman?"
"Is he? He's saved all his toys for his second childhood!"

OOH! OUCH!

It's when you're hobbling down to bathe that you realise how true it is of every pebble that it's not the only pebble on the beach.

Sing a Song of (Twelve and) Sixpence.

A scientist says a bottle of whisky will keep 100 years. Come on, all the chorus: "Not in our house."

Seaside Reflection.

Some of these bathing girls don't seem to know when to leave off leaving off.

LIVING IMAGE

"Don't you think that joins have an advantage over the average person?"
"Why?"
"Well, they can at least see themselves as others see them."

EXCEPTION.
Whalebone, we are told, is useless nowadays. It is understood, however, that whales have other ideas about this.

WOULD IF HE COULD
"You don't seem to have a thought for anything but motorizing. Why don't you put your wife before cars sometimes?"
"I'm scared of being found out."

"He married to settle a dispute."
"With the girl?"
"No—with his creditors."

OR IS IT?
A racing writer points out that dyeing a horse to win a race is a crime. Dyeing hair to win a husband, of course, is merely feminine charm.

BRITAIN'S BEAUTIES.
A critic says that English women have lost their nerve. He ought to notice some of the entries in the beauty competitions.

LEFT ON IT.
The elderly spinster who is self-conscious.

DON'T BE A NOISY PARKER.
Police appeal to people leaving cars near houses to keep as quiet as they can.

BORN EVERY MINUTE
A scientist says that the universe is composed of electrons, photons, neutrons, and protons. Also protons.

WRAPPED IN GLASS
"What on earth is the matter with you, George?"
"Shome fruit I had musht have disagreed with me, sweetheart."
"Fruit?"
"Yeash, dear, bottled grapes."

MORE IMPORTANT.
I has been discovered that solid carbon dioxide will tell whether diamonds and pearls are true or false. But what a girl wants to know is whether the man who gives her the diamonds and pearls is true or false.

COMPENSATION.
There's one thing about a slow waitress, she makes her customers fast.

MUSSOLINI TRAINS YOUNG ITALY.

It was a joy to see these splendid types of young manhood earnestly preparing themselves for the best service for their country, namely, for building up, wholesale, a new manly and united nation.

The main difference between scouting and the Balilla scheme is that the one is a voluntary movement which has grown up automatically out of small beginnings on the enthusiasm of the boys and the devotion of their leaders, without any assistance from the State; the other is an official organization, definitely part of the State education, under highly specialised salaried instructors.

It was an interesting study to me to see whether this more or less obligatory instruction was producing such results as those which come from the boy's personal desire to learn.

Proud And Keen.

I found that there was undoubted
keenness on the part of the boys;
one could see it. I asked, for instance, what punishment they had for non-attendance. None. The boys came eagerly, proud of themselves and full of enthusiasm. When,
in company with the Provincial Commissioner, I visited the gymnasium, I noted one little straw which suggested how the wind blew.

A squad of boys was at voluntary fencing practice. When the Chief came in all work stopped, every lad sprang to attention and gave the Fascist salute. Till the Commissioner had returned it and had told them to carry on, all stood still as graven images. Once released, however, they were cheery and friendly, laughing and chatting with the Commissioner, and I realised that though there was strict discipline a strong human touch underlay it.

As an experiment in education the Balilla scheme should have the very closest interest for all educationists.

It is aimed to prepare the next generation in mass, boys and girls, progressively from early childhood up to adult age, for something more than mere knowledge.

by preparing them for those very things that are needed for a modern nation, namely, an improved general standard in strength of character, of body, mind, and spirit, in the average future citizen, instead of merely turning out a percentage of good scholars with a large remainder of "also rans."

How It Is Done

It has often been asked whether Scouting could not be made a definite part of the national education to such end, and practice. How far it is successful can only be judged by ultimate results.

One of the most interesting features of this Balilla training of body, mind and spirit, is that although it has been officially adopted as a definite aid to education, it is not obligatory on the youngster.

Yet every boy and girl in the land seems to be taking it up, their numbers running already to over 3,500, 000.

I asked Signor Mussolini how this was brought about and, with very appropriate gesture, he said, "Simply by moral force."

The fact that moral force is already exercising so strong an effect on this young experiment augurs
well for the future of Italy.

SALESMAN ROBS EMPLOYER.

Culprit Gaoled.

Yeung Ying-wai, aged 25, pleaded guilty, before Balfour at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, to a charge of embezzlement of $25.50 from the Au Mi shop factory, 6 Lyndhurst Terrace, where he was employed as a salesman.

Accused said he could give no explanation.

Sentence of two months' hard labour, and compensation of $25, in default one month's hard labour, the sentences to run consecutively, was passed by His Worship.

SMASHING SOCCER WINS

Ridley Outstanding

Bickford was the better of the two Club wingers, though neither had many opportunities. E. Strango was robbed time and again by the bustling methods of Bett and Cork, and Williams was seldom in the picture.

Ridley was again the outstanding player on the field.
He excelled in drawing the defence by his pace and ball control before placing the ball to either Harding or McGuinness with an open goal before them.
Harding played well, and, on the whole, there were no weak spots in the Lincoln team.

Club Three Down at Interval

By good understanding between the halves and forwards the Lincolns were quickly on the offensive.
Ridley and Hocquard going close with good attempts. Ten minutes after the start they opened the scoring with a gift goal, Baldry forced a corner from which Ridley headed against the crossbar. Hills caught the ball, but turned round inside the goal, the referee awarding a goal. Baldry failed to increase the lead when he allooned the ball over the bar from a penalty kick. A rare turn of speed by Harding, however, resulted in the second goal, Ridley cleverly hooking the ball over Hills' head. Close on the interval Hocquard increased the lead with a long shot from the wing.

The Lincolns did not slacken their pace in the second half, and Ridley made the total four when he converted a splendid centre from Baldry.

McGuinness added the fifth goal
with a beautiful effort, jumping high to head in a centre from Hocquard. A minute later, Ridley, McGuinness and Harding took part in a good movement, the last named scoring. To complete the Club's discomfiture, McGuinness scored the seventh goal after a race with Hills. With a minute to go Fowler scored the Club's solitary point in a goal-mouth melee.

LINCOLNS RECORD DOUBLE
BY 5-2 SCORE

At Happy Valley the Club second eleven were beaten decisively by the Lincolns in a friendly encounter
by 5 goals to 2.

Only Bell shone in the Club forward line, Fisher being too well watched. The Club halves were weak, and only the splendid work of Bailton and Sloan averted an even heavier defeat.

After 20 minutes, McGuinness opened the scoring, and, as a result of good work by Bell, Farrow levelled the scores.

In the second half the Lincolns dominated the game. Evans gave his side the lead, and McGuinness and Setters combined well for the former to add another, which was followed by a goal by Setters. Bell reduced the lead with a splendid goal, but the Lincolns returned to the attack and the Club goal seemed to bear a charmed life. Three times in as many seconds the woodwork was struck. Near the end McGuinness added the fifth with a splendid shot.

Club:—Slmonds; Lowe, Bailton, McKellar, Boyd, Gamble, Fisher, Bell,
Farrow, Dunhill and Lawson.
Lincolns:—Deacon; Colclough, Ramsay, Maughan, Worrall, Thompson, Clayton, Evans, Setters, McGuinness
and Toynce.

Kowloon Score Nine Against Saints.

ALL FORWARDS SCORE

Playing at home the Kowloon
Football Club overwhelmed St.
Joseph's by nine goals to nil yesterday afternoon.

The Saints were the first to attack, but shots from Leonard and Ward were easily saved by Gur-reviten. From his clearance the Kowloon forwards were set in motion and Hill opened the scoring.
Three corners to Kowloon in succession proved fruitless, although White managed to get his foot to one, only to send over the bar. The Saints then broke away and D.
Leonard, with an open goal lost control of the ball, and the custodian easily cleared.

Breaking away on the left, Blake ran through to net Kowloon's second goal, Kowloon were settling down nicely, their forward passing to advantage. A brilliant run by Davis, who centered well, gave White a chance, but shot straight at Marques.

Kowloon Add Seven

Crossing over with two goals in the lead Kowloon were soon on the offensive. O. Davies was sent away down the wing, and his brilliant lob shot from the touch line hit the top corner of the cross-bar and glanced into the net.

It was not long after that White, receiving a glorious pass from Blake, dribbled through to score from close range. Hill put Kowloon further ahead when his shot struck Lawrence and glanced
into the net.

A nice pass to Elliot by White, enabled the former to score the sixth goal. Bliss increased the lead with a great shot from thirty yards range, beating Marques all the way.

A HOME WITHOUT 'ASPRO'

MEANS GREAT RISK FOR EVERY MEMBER

If "ASPRO" is not in your home, it should be, in YOUR interest.
It should be there to dispel attacks of pain, it should be there to break up colds and influenza when they first appear — it should be there as a guarantee of sweet sleep to the sleepless. "ASPRO" is not just a soother of pain in 5 to 10 minutes. Its mission is far greater and deeper, for it dispels the cause of the pain and so prevents the development of serious illness. Its service in reducing feverishness is of great moment. Keep "ASPRO" in the house and you keep out illness as well as soothing away pain. These are facts demonstrated by thousands. A trial will demonstrate it to you, too. "ASPRO" Tablets are easy to take — there are no harmful after-effects — they create no craving — no nausea — no digestive troubles — they just do their work of soothing away the pain and of dispelling or dissolving the cause, leaving Nature to go unhindered in her great progress of activity, healing and expression. "ASPRO" not only stops the pain, but it saves your money
— it enables you to work when otherwise you could not have worked
— it is the medicine of the new age — safe, sure and effective. It stands up to all claims made for it. "ASPRO" stops illness and stops pain.

The R.A.S.C. had a strong defence, Abbott making some excellent saves, and Gray, at centre-half, proving himself a tireless worker. At forward, Eye-cott and Hay were outstanding, while Fullbrook sent across some splendid centres.

You leave home as "it as a fiddle"
but never know the moment when fate will prove unkind in the form of a headache, neuralgia or nerve pain, or maybe it will be a rheumatic attack. The slightest derangement of your nervous system may make you feel "nervy" or irritable. The sight of an accident may upset you for the day. In crowds germ contamination may place you in the quick grip of a cold or influenza. The best protection for such emergency is to make cor-tain that you put a few "ASPRO"

'ASPRO' is Woman's Best Friend

Possibly the greatest users of 'ASPRO' are women, for whom
'ASPRO' has a special charm on account of the varied periodical experiences with which all women are familiar. They surely know just what a wonderful soother and pain dispeller
'ASPRO' is. Millions of women throughout the World now regularly take 'ASPRO', the safe, sure and effec-

THE TIGER OF TIBET

did not mean to behave so, would he have sent a dandy for the miss-sahib? They are in no danger so long as you, and perhaps myself, have not fallen into the trap as well. But once that has happened they will have served their purpose, and then they will be in very great danger, for the "Tiger" will not like witnesses. By following and attacking at once we will be playing into his hands and, adding to the dangers which beset the prisoners.

"Now, sahib, we must first of all rest, and then follow in pursuit, but not in the way in which we are expected. I have talked much with Tearing and Tangin—they are good men—and have learnt that two days' march to the east lies the main pilgrim-road to this Holy Mountain. Here we are alone, but on the main pilgrim-road there are many who are always passing to and fro. There an ambush would be more difficult. Let us two disguise ourselves as Hindu pilgrims and make for the pilgrim-road. There the pass across the frontier is, I hear, much easier than the one at the head of this main valley. The "Tiger" will be looking for us on his tracks, while we shall be cutting him off from the right. We will thus be able to reach the temple which is his lair, and perhaps slay him as well as rescue our friends. We are but two and they are many. Our one chance is a surprise. That is my plan, sahib."

For full five minutes Geoffrey thought in silence. He hated the idea of leaving Phyllis and, her father, but Sher Khan's logic was unanswerable.

"What about taking the Bhottas?"

"Hindu pilgrims would not be in company with such. Besides, they would be of little use in a fight. Surprise is our only hope. We will take one to guide us on our way to-morrow, and he had better return here and look after the house and our belongings until our return, whenever that may be. I will now go to see about dinner."

Geoffrey was tormented with anxiety, but realised that Phyllis ran little danger so long as he was not taken prisoner, and tried to comfort himself with this fact. He set down—and wrote out—a report of his movements to date, giving all the information he had learnt from the prisoner. Then a thought struck him and he called the Tibetan.

"There are many temples round Kallas; how shall I find the one in which the "Tiger" has his lair?"

"You cannot mistake it. It is the only temple on the north side of the mountain. All the others are on the west and south facing the holy lakes."

Geoffrey added this last bit of information to his report and sealed it, after addressing it to Brandon. He had not expected such a ready reply, and it was partly on account of this that he had not asked the Tibetan for further details already. He knew how timid and secretive the nomads were, and too many questions at once would only have confused the man and made him suspicious. Patience had been rewarded, and Geoffrey determined to try and find out more details before starting on the morrow. He did not realise how worn out he was until he crawled into his sleeping-bag, and in spite of his mental anguish he was soon asleep. Sher Khan insisted on the Bhottas and the Tibetans sleeping in the dining-room, while he himself lay across the door so as to be awakened at the first sign of any intrusion. The windows were still barricaded, as Geoffrey had thought it safer to add to their defences rather than lessen them.

It was Jogaroo who woke them up at eight o'clock. He reported that the Tibetan detachment had moved at dawn and ascended the Lankpya Pass towards Tibet. Mr. Merridew and Phyllis both seemed well, and the latter was carried in a dandy.

Geoffrey was anxious to be off at once, but Sher Khan restrained him.

"We cannot reach the pilgrim-road in one day, and must sleep in a cave one night. We can reach this cave if we start by noon, so why go before all preparations are complete?" And again Geoffrey had to give into the Pathan's sound common sense.

Geoffrey and Sher Khan then shaved off their beards and moustaches, and the former stained himself all over with a bottle of special stain which he had included in his kit on the chance of some such necessity arising. Hindu pilgrims invariably carry their bedding with them, so small loads would not arouse any suspicion. Each packed his rifle (Sher Khan's .250 was a takedown model) and ammunition in his bedding roll, and these together with what food they could take completed their loads. Their pistols, they carried on their persons. Having dressed themselves as suitably as possible with what garments they could procure, they set off with Tangin as their guide.

The cave was reached an hour before dusk, and the next morning they bade Tangin farewell and set out for the pilgrim-road.

That evening they slept at the foot of the Lipu Lek Pass. The first of the fateful ten days had passed.

Kohlrausch, secured first prize in the racing car class up to 800 c.c., improving the old category record by four seconds. In the same event, W. Baumer, also driving an Austin Seven, secured second prize. The course is a very difficult one owing to many corners and the event is looked upon as the most important South German Hill Climb.

CAR PRODUCTION IN 1932

British Firm's Great Increase in Output

Amongst other British motor-car producers, the M. G. Car Company increased its 1932 production by more than 100 per cent. over 1931 and plans for a still further increase were made, and the number of cars delivered during March showed an increase of almost 100 per cent. over the previous month's output.

Exports also showed a marked increase, with the advent of the spring.

In the light of recent developments by the Ford Company, it is interesting to note that in 1904 Henry Ford built and marketed a small four-passenger vehicle with scroll dash, no bonnet, and an 8 h.p. horizontally-opposed engine located "amidships" under the body. One of his anxieties was lest customers should regard the engine as inaccessible, and therefore he advertised that the whole body could be freed by removing six bolts!

Henry Ford
Dearborn, Mich.

There are some things we refuse to do to sell a car. We like sales, but fair-dealing and the confidence of our customers are desirable, too.

For one thing, we refuse to poison anyone's mind against another make of car. We know what our car is and what it will do, and we are ready to tell you about that. But to imply defects in another car is not our business.

We have done our utmost to encourage intelligent buying of motor cars by showing purchasers how to protect their own interests. All that a good producer asks is a customer who knows quality when he sees it. An intelligent purchaser will speedily conclude that only a bad product requires bad sales methods.

We refuse, also, to adopt the role of tricky trader—that is, pretending to offer you a larger trade-in allowance, and taking it away from you in some other way. Ford trade-in values are high, but we do not make fictitious allowances in order to get a sale which may be otherwise disadvantageous to the buyer. Our dealers take used cars upon a system of values, not by haggling or barter.

In this world no one gets something for nothing, although there are many ways of making people think that they do. The sure way to get value for value is, first, by being yourself willing to deal on that basis, and second, by dealing with a concern that has no other policy.

We refuse to keep dinning in your ears that the Ford V-8 is the best, most economical, lowest-priced car. That is claimed for several cars. Obviously it cannot be true of all. There comes a point where claims and adjectives and all advertising hysteria disappears in its own fog. Personally, I prefer facts.

We say the new Ford V-8 is the best car we have made.

We say that our 8-cylinder car is as economical to operate as any lower number of cylinders.

We say that we have always been known as the makers of good cars and that the many good, well-balanced qualities of our present car places it at the head of our line to date.

Any one wishing to do business with us on these principles will find our word and the quality of our product to be A-1. What we say about economy, operation and durability will stand good anywhere.

"THE BLARNEY STONE"

This is a word "picture" of a scene at the British and Dominions studios during the making of "The Blarney Stone":—"Tom Walls had arrived on the scene. He looked to me like a good-class butler, well sun-bronzed, dark mansion-polished hair, rather longish at black, face trimmings at side, looking horribly bored with himself and with everybody else. He had just sat down. All round are the guests, who are "supposed" to be distinguished, and who "have" just been received at the house party. What a motley!

"We see, for instance, a tall, very tall man in 'tails' (the men were all in tails) talking to a young lady in green. He looked absurd, with his dilapidated dress-suit, the waist of which reached near his breast, and the tails finishing by his hip (perhaps a few inches longer). The lady with him was very well bronzed, with eye-lashes that stood out like thick pieces of stiff, black cotton, whose hair and at least three different tints of blonde, and black eyes that shone brilliantly under the canopy of her lashes. Further along we saw another couple. The man here had a marvellous permanent wave, putting to shame 'bother Eugene and Marcelle easily. The colour was raven black, and it stood out well over a pallid face. His partner had a very pale blue dress, with diamante shoulder-straps. She had a nice face, slim figure, and restless hands.

One of the highlights in "The Blarney Stone" is the scene representing a house-warming held by Tim Fitzgerald, the character played by Tom Walls, in his new Park Lane mansion, acquired as a symbol of his success after a year of phenomenal activity in the City.

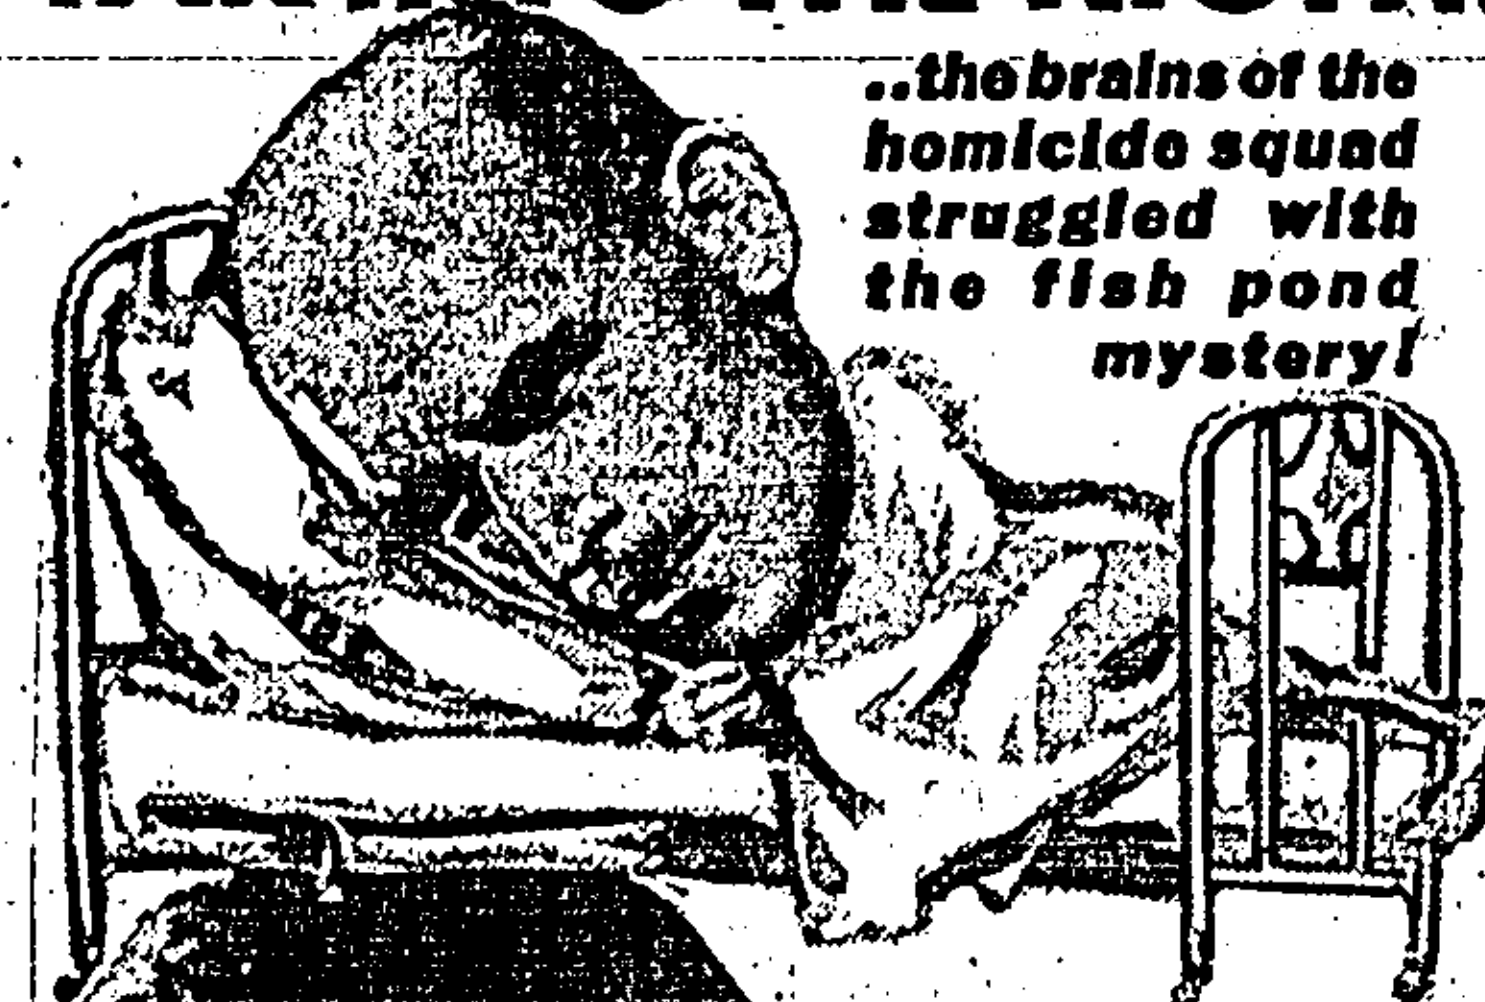

In a production notable for its beautiful sets, the set in which this sequence was filmed stands prominent. It represents a marble-floored and stone-walled mansion, in Italian renaissance style. Comprising an entrance hall, main hall and grand staircase opening on to a ball-room on the first floor, this set gives an extraordinary impression of depth and spaciousness, which Mr. Walls, in the capacity of director, set out to capture with the camera.

The grand staircase figures very prominently in the action of "The Blarney Stone" since Tom Walls and Anne Grey conduct a whirlwind quarrel between the roof garden and the ground floor; and their pell-mell descent is made via this staircase, upon which, a little earlier, the distinguished guests at the house party have been received by Fitzgerald.

PILOT LOSES BODY - LINE BEARINGS

MAIL PLANE
FORCED DOWN
IN CHANNEL

Towed In By French
Fishing Boat.

SEARCH BY BRITISH WARSHIPS AND SEAPLANES

London, Yesterday.

Forced down in the English Channel on Thursday night after losing his bearings, the pilot of the mail plane which rushes the mails from the German Atlantic liner, “Bremen” to Southampton, was yesterday towed to Start Point, Devonshire, by a French trawler.

The non-appearance of the plane at its scheduled time caused considerable consternation, and British naval vessels and seaplanes conducted a search.

The mail seaplane was catapulted from the liner “Bremen” on Thursday afternoon. After flying about 600 miles from the “Bremen,” the pilot and mechanic lost their bearings and decided to come down in daylight, although actually they had enough petrol for another hour's flight, which would have enabled them to reach Southampton.

The French fishing boat, alongside which the seaplane alighted, towed the plane throughout the night towards Start Point, in Devonshire. The sea was rather rough but the crew stayed in the plane.

British naval vessels and seaplanes had been sent out to search for the plane, but the airman saw nothing of them and continued their flight to Southampton yesterday morning, arriving there early in the afternoon. Neither the men nor the plane were any the worse for their severe buffeting. — British Wireless Service.

BOWLING RULE TO BE ADOPTED

FOR INDIA.

Jardine Receives His Instructions.

London, Yesterday.

According to the Daily Telegraph it is understood that Douglas Jardine, captain of the M.C.C. team, has been instructed not to use “body-line” bowling on the tour in India this winter.

The team sailed for their Indian tour by the P. and O. liner Mooltan from Tilbury on Friday. The team is composed of:—Jardine, Valentine, Walters, Levett, Marriott, J. H. Human, James Langridge, Nichols, Verity, Townsend, Bakewell, Clark Gregory, Barnett, Mitchell and Elliott. — Reuter.

LADIES' GOLF DAY

Members of the Royal Hong Kong Golf Club (Ladies' Section) are reminded of the Annual Ladies' Day to be held at Deep Water Bay tomorrow end Tuesday. A Tombstone Competition will be held throughout the day and Long Driving, Approaching and Putting Competitions will take place in the morning.

GERMAN TARIFF RETALIATION

Equal Privileges For Imports Wanted.

Berlin, Yesterday.

A German decree issued yesterday, authorises, from today, retaliatory restriction on imports from countries which restrict the import of German goods, except where existing treaties sanction such restriction. The decree, however, will be enforced where a third nation enjoys benefits denied to Germany. — Reuter.

Short Story Series

Popular Features In The “China Mail.”
“The Smuggler,” a great short story by the popular novelist Aino Kallas will appear in to-morrow's China Mail, continuing the series of short stories which are published daily in Hong Kong's oldest and brightest newspaper.

Other features in the China Mail, the oldest-established newspaper in the Far East, include the Colony's best Sports pages, a Women's page, a cross-word puzzle, bridge notes, and a daily cartoon. Columns on Literature; Art and Drama, Building, Engineering and Aviation; Motoring; Cinemas and Food and Home Economics, also appear during each week.

CRITICAL SITUATION IN HAVANA

American Homes Looted.

Washington, Yesterday.

The United States Government is making representations to the Havana authorities as the result of the looting of an American citizen's home there. The United States Secretary of State, Mr. William Cordell Hull, said that the State Department had received no details of the looting, but apparently nobody was injured. He added that conditions in the interior of Cuba were less threatening, but the situation in Havana was critical.
